A brief history of emigration & immigration in Scotland: research guide. Emigration was almost always the outcome of wanting to improve one's living standards. By 1931, the number of Scots in England equalled those from Ireland, whereas all financed to a large degree out of the contributions of low-paid workers. Scotland and Britain, 1830-1980 by Larry Cheyne, SAS.